

Georgios Nestoropoulos, is the President of the Agricultural Cooperative “Neos Apollon.” He is a farmer under the standard tax regime, and the crops he cultivates include industrial peaches, table peaches, kiwifruit, persimmons, and apricots.

The Agricultural Cooperative (A.C.) has its facilities - including cold storage units, sorting/packing facilities, and mechanical equipment - on an 18-stremma site in Kouloura, Imathia Prefecture.

The cooperative was founded in 1976 and consists of 325 members who cultivate 10,000 stremmas of land, producing approximately 25,000 tons of products annually.

These products include industrial peaches, table peaches (including flat peaches), nectarines, kiwifruit, persimmons, apricots, and others, which are marketed in both international and domestic markets.
